

---

DOWNLOAD searchable PDF

In this book, Don Bayliss describes in detail the formal responses to the housing and sanitation crisis affecting the well-populated town. He utilises the 1852 Board of Health Plans seen on the Interactive Plans pages, along with other contemporary sources. It has been updated to include the recent colour images of the original watercolours, which were not available when the book was first published.